Who Pays Mother?

By Elbert Hubbard.

Mother's work is never done. There is no other work that can compare in effort and time with the work a mother has to do.

And what is the net result of this labor? Citizens for the state.

Mothers have not sold their time, energy and talent for money. They have given it.

When a mother wants to go on a little journey—buy, sell, think or express her thoughts in a business world—she must first consult her husband.

The business of the world is operated on business principles.

You give so much service, I give you a medium of exchange which we call "money."

With this money you purchase that you do not produce but which you need. This is commerce.

We make our estimate in dollars of what a product will bring in the market.

"Is he a great poet?" "Oh, yes, he sells what he writes at 25 cents a word."

"Is he a great sculptor?" "Certainly he is. He has a commission for a seventy thousand dollar statue."

Poetry and art are appreciated in terms of dollars, that represent values to the minds of men.

"What is he worth?" The answer is in terms of dollars, never in terms of children.

Nothing is of much intrinsic value except that which affects our living. That which gives us better control of our brain, nerves, muscles, that which helps us adjust ourselves to life is of most worth.

We give little thought to developing such values, because such values are not reckoned in terms of dollars. We cultivate what sells in the market.

But along with the production and transportation and selling is an exercise which develops qualities which make for civilization.

The teaching of civilization has been that, if a person wants independence and freedom, it is necessary either to inherit money or to develop earning power.

Man learned the lesson first. He had fewer family cares.

Woman has valued affection and love more than money, independence and freedom. Nature made it so.

Woman has been slow in learning that love is good and necessary, but love is not enough.

Woman has a natural desire for freedom and for independence. Her hope and the trend of her present life is to have these, and keep love and affection, too.

There is a way for her to do this, and we are approaching it.

Free schools gave to mothers a great degree of freedom.

Free tuition and then free books were in the direction of liberty for the mother.

And now there are schools where the midday lunch is provided for the children.

Who provides free schools, free books, free lunches? The people.

Some of us well remember when the mother tax was paid by the people who sent the children to school.

The poor man who had six children paid six times as much as the rich man with one.

The man who owned half the town and had no children paid no tax at all.

But the fact finally came to man that children are a part of society at large, and it is for the well-being of the state that all children shall be educated.

And the result was that the state made free schools possible.

The people are carrying this thought locally forward. Equip the children for citizenship. Bad citizens are the most costly extravagance the state can have.

The children are far more dependent upon and far more influenced by the mother than by the father.

Women slaves and women in servitude or in bonds do not bear noble sons and noble daughters.

One step more and the state will make mothers economically free. Society at the last.

The entire town is blessed if the children are great. The entire state suffers if the children are rogues and criminals.

Would it not be good business to make mothers economically free and thereby receive directly the civilizing benefits of commerce?

TO GIVE VISITING TEACHERS JOY RIDE ABOUT THE CITY

With the Northern Indiana Teachers' association convention but two days off it is assured that there will be plenty of automobiles to take the visiting teachers on a sight-seeing tour of the city Thursday afternoon.

According to a committee announcement nearly 100 machines have already been promised. That 125 will be on hand by Thursday is almost a certainty.

All cars are expected to be lined up at the Oliver hotel, the registration headquarters. After teachers have registered they will be taken in the autos and whisked to various parts of the city. C. J. Allard is chairman of the committee in charge of the reception duties.

"Welcome" signs will be begun probably Wednesday.

HUSBANDS DENY STORIES OF WIVES IN CITY COURT

Two husbands faced weeping wives in city court Tuesday morning and pleaded not guilty to charges of child desertion filed by their respective help-mets.

P. Earl Keene, Route No. 1, was the first to be arraigned. Freda Keene alleged that he had deserted her and her small child, and for several weeks had failed to supply them with food and clothing.

Keene pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until April 1. When the husband was booked at the sergeant's desk he declared he was a theatrical performer, but had been unable to procure work.

Vincent Sikorski, 1205 W. Grace st., according to Freda Sikorski, has been negligent of his family duties in that he refuses to provide for his small son. The child has no clothes, said his mother, and there was no money with which to buy any. Sikorski's case was also continued until April 1. Bond was fixed at $50.
